Dreams.

Dreams.

I dream of going home some day—
(My heart is very tired)—
I long to tread the meadow way
By rose and hawthorn briared,
To pluck the datales golden-eyed,
And clovers genimed with rain—
Long, long ago, Youth's gladness died—
It cannot live again!

I want to wake with soul uplift And breathe the morning air;
To watch the white syringas drift,
With mind unseinted from care,
To turn aside form problems hard,
And know content once more—
Joy comes but once; the path is barred When old age shuts the door

Where from the oleanders' shade
Steals forth a murmuring rill;
I used to love it as a child—
I shall go back some day—
Alas, poor heart! by dreams beguiled—
You could not find the way.

Our New Furs.

The fur season opens here to-day, and it is with a great deal of confidence we wait your inspection of the handsomest stock ever shown in Richmond.

We run the whole gamut of your wants, from the superb set of Genuine Ermine at one hundred and twenty-five dollars to the least priced Scarfs.

The Sample Pieces: In buying furs we frequently manage to get all of a maker's sample pieces, as his season is over. There are many of them here at less than we could buy them for FOOT-BALL TO-DAY: The University of Virginia and Carlisle Indians will play. Come and get the ribbons of your favorite—all widths in the wanted colors at 5c to 10c a yard.

MUNSING'S UNDERWEAR .- Several years ago we determined. If possible, to find an underwear that would stand the test of time. We tried "Munsing." We have never regretted it. We never lose a customer who starts its use. It is as near perfection as any underwear made, and at popular prices, too. It starts at 50e a garment.

"THE MISSIONARY HYMN."

By BISHOP HEBER.

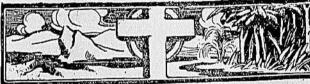

Reginald Heber (Malpas, Cheshire, April 21, 1782—Trichinopoly, India, April 2, 1826), Anglican bishop of Culcutta and true port, is the author of a number of standard hymns. He was of Bruzenose, has been pronounced the best poem Oxford over produced this "Masonary Hymn" was written at the request of his father-in-law, who had to deliver a missionary sermon the next morning, and who had fatled to find a suitable hymn for the service. It was then written as it has ever since been sung, and so admirably does it fit the thome that no missionary service is today complete without it. Its poelic form and its stirring, clarico-like call brought it into immediate popularity, while its subject has caused it to be sung in even more lands than those owhich it sings. The tune to which it slawys sung was one of Lowell Mason's first compositions, and was also prepared upon request, for this particular hymn.

ROM Greenland's icy mountains, From India's coral strand, Where Afric's sunny fountains
Roll down their golden sand—
From many veient river,
From to palmy plain,
They call us to tellver
Their land from error's chain.

What though the spicy breezes Blow soft o'er Ceylon's isle; Though every prospect pleases, And only man is vile; In vain with lavish kindness The gifts of God are strown; The heathen, in his blindness, Bows down to wood and stone!

Shall we, whose souls are lighted With wisdom from on high-Shall we, to men benighted, The lamp of life deny? Salvation, O. Salvation! The joyful sound proclaim, Till earth's remotest nation Has learned Messiah's name

Waft, waft, ye winds, his story, And you, ye waters, roll,
Till, like a sea of glory,
It spreads from pole to pole; o'er our ransomed nature The Lamb for sinners slain, Redcemer, King, Creator, In bliss returns to reign!

"Marriage licenses; certainly not. Does one imagine for a minule that anybody with any sense would take out marriage licenses to-day." Such was the reply of the clerk of the Hustings Court vesterday when he was run up against by a Times-Dispatch reporterial interrogation mark.

The interrogation point did not exactly catch on and modestly asked for an interpretation of the mystic signs. "Well, now here," said the clerk, "to-day is Friday, isn't it? Likewise it is the 13th of the month—Friday the 13th, don't you catch on now?"

The thickheaded newspaper man managed to catch an idea on the last shuffle and deal and the dialogue ended. Friday the 13th, sure enough. Annexation Monday.

Judge Garnett will sit in the Henrico Circuit Court next Monday and hear the petitions and counter-petitions for and against anneaxtion. It will mean much, both to the citizens of Henrico and to IRchmonders, the action of the judge. The East-End Annexation and Improvement League will be represented by Mr. Charles Meredith, one of the foremost attorneys of Richmond. Petitions by the property-owners and the residents of the district affected—two miles square, between Onkwood and Chimborazo Park—will be submitted to the court. As a unit, the people who own property, as well as those who rent in this vicinity, are clamoring to be annexed to Richmond. The school facilities are reasons principally advanced by those who wish to be a part of Richmond. Other advantages are to be derived from the annexation, and nothing has been left undone by those in the territory towards advancing their interests in the court.

The matter was to have been heard this week, but, owing to the fact that Judge Garnett could not be in the city, it was postponed.

On the back of the dance order, the following verses were printed:
O, my luve's like a red, red rose,
That's newly sprung in June;
O, my luve's like the melodie
That's sweetly played in tune,

As fair art thou, my bonnie lass,

Tili a' the seas gang dry, my dear,
And the rocks melt w!' the sun;
I will luve thee still, my-dear,
While the sands of life shal run.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LYNCHBURG, VA., October 13.—The east-bound express train on the James River Division of the Chesapeake and Ohio, this morning, near Iron Gate, struck a carriage, in which a colored couple were crossing the track. The horse was killed, the carriage demolished and the woman was fatally wounded about her head. The man escaped without injury by jumping when he saw the approaching train.

The last report indicates that the woman cannot survive her injuries long.
